Life-Changing

By Lisa H.

I spent nearly a year working the 12 steps in this workbook and it changed my life forever. It causes you to examine your thinking and your make up, enabling you to identify your false beliefs and make changes in your life that usher in God's peace. Really looking at your life can be scary, but as the Lord shines His light on those dark places while you work this program, the authors continually give scripture references affirming God's love for you and the hope associated with a life built upon His truth. Perfect love casts out all fear (1John 4:18)and the love of Jesus will do just that as you navigate those scary places. I think EVERY PERSON, could benefit from this program, not just people trying to work through issues of co-dependency or addiction.

Conquering Co-Dependency

By Deborah A. Reynolds

Who me codependent?! As one works their way through this workbook not only do they discover what has been swept under the rug and been tripping them up, but why and how to clean it up and walk free! This study is highly effective in bringing change to the life that seeks change. The one who desires more real freedom and life will find this book instrumental in leading them to these gifts. I have found this adventure to be even more effective when done with others. Work through a section on your own and then come together to share and challenge one another. Though it isn't an easy path, it is well worth the while!
